

TB Reactors:

These animals test definitively positive to a caudal fold test (CFT) or follow-up cranial cervical test (CCT) in the field. They are identified and quarantined on site and then are sent to slaughter within 15 days (once State or Federal approval to move them is obtained).